“Artificial Intelligence in Dentistry: A New Era”

Speaker: Rohan D. Jagtap, DDS

New technologies in the healthcare industry have had a significant impact on human life, and one of the most transformative innovations in this regard is Artificial Intelligence technology. Artificial Intelligence (AI) is the term used to describe machines that can perform human tasks by learning and adapting from external data. AI is driving remarkable advancements in both the medical and dental fields. While AI applications in medicine have been researched for many years, its integration into dentistry is still an emerging area. In the domains of medicine and dentistry, AI is gaining increasing popularity due to its invaluable contributions to patient healthcare services and the assistance it offers to healthcare professionals, including dentists and specialists.
